Tales from an Alternate Time

How Rumors Get Started and possible retraction

Tarren Mill, Hillsbrad Foothills
February 14, 2021

Click for Calendar

Somehow the Sage and the Longwalker made a splash in the last Times, and they want the story set straight. That is fine, we can retract the rumor if needed, but we clearly put that under a rumor section to begin with.

But how does tabloid news come about anyway. Someone or more than one someone, infers information from what they see. Perhaps they are trying to be helpful. Perhaps they are concerned for a hurting friend. Whatever the reason, they notice the Sage and the Longwalker talking together away from the rest of the group. As both returns, walking separately and both obviously in some internal pain and conflict, stoically holding things together, their friends infer it is about living life to the fullest and about love. But a love that did not connect. Which leads to the conclusion and is stated for all to hear that the Sage turned down the Longwalker's affections.

The Times Staff has gone back through the reported information, and this speculation did take place at the Roadhouse... whether those speculating were correct or not, the Longwalker and the Sage can take it up with them.

See Rumors Overheard at Spirit's of the Earth Mother for this edition's "rumors" and please enjoy!

Oh, and, of course, all had a good time that attended Roadhouse, including a spirit searching for her loved one, who received help from many of the Roadhouse regulars. Next Stop: Grom'gol Beach for a BBQ!

The Horde Says Enough is Enough

Coastlines, Stranglethron Vale
February 14, 2021

The Horde says Enough, but was it Enough?

The Alliance, led by notorious Damage Networks has been catching all the fish. Hand of Lordaeron, Blacktooth Grin, and Redwood Tribes come together to put an end to the dominance. Fielding some avid fishermen between the three groups, the rest set out to keep them protected.

While the Alliance still won the Stranglethorn Vale Fishing Tournament, it took them over double the amount of time, and there does seem to be a red hue to the normally sparkling blue waters.

Stay tuned for more Blood in the Water!

On the Lighter Side!

Thunder Bluff Peon Debate Society

Amphitheater Central Rise, Thunder Bluff
February 24, 2021

Leidolfr Redwood agreed to lead a debate filled with Peons. As he put it, "Yes, I like Orc, very much." But some say, the Highmountain Tribesman had no idea what was about to happen. Peon versus Peon versus Peon with antics highlighting every debate question, which is what brought the rest of the spectators to the Debate. Undercity was chosen as the city that was the poopiest and Peons the hardest werk werkers. From there it went downhill.

Hard working Peon, Fafi, arrived at one point and trying to be helpful fell off the Bluffs... she saw trash below and wanted to help "Keep Mulgore Clean!" The Safety Inspector was highly agitated about this and will surely start up a "Keep the Bluffs Safe" campaign... again.

Roarax delighted in jumping on the moderator, and at one point caught hold and hung from Leidolfr's antler like a pinata. Tawahne Grimtotem tried to assist the beleaguered moderator, but with more patience than most any other in Azeroth, Leidolfr allowed the Orc to jump off on his own after a minute or two.

Beachhouse BBQ

Grom'Gol Base, Stranglethorn Vale
February 21, 2021

Grom'gol almost seems like it is too busy to host a Beachhouse BBQ, but after mercenaries had a few fish and strider steaks, the area seemed to quiet down some... until the Longbeards of Clan Battlehammer arrived. They kept their distance, however, so the Base grunts let them make their way to the sandy shores. Redwood and friends went out the other side ready to defend themselves and found the Longbeards fishing. Several tribesmen grabbed their own fishing poles and joined them, thus starting a fantastic BBQ Drinking, carousing, and laughter were interspersed by more fish grilling courtesy of the Longwalker and new Tribesmen (now Guardian as of this writing) Tawahne Grimtotem. All seemed to be going well, with another surprise as Taharkah Thundersong returned from wars in a far land where she had taken on a contract as a mercenary for a while.

But the tone changed for the better for most of the guests when Longwalker Ragehorn and Tawahne Grimtotem announced they were indeed an item.

There was some concern raised when the Sage experienced a breathing problem, soothed by the Longwalker and Tribesman Lakerunner while Skybreaker took care of Thundersong, who was later rumored to be dealing with an illness related to the Scourge she had been fighting again.

Even Chieftain Ayashe Brightmane seemed to be acting peculiar, sitting in the water outside of the keep with another Tribesman and two Alliance.

Overall, a night of Love, Friendship, and a lack of bloodshed were the highlights of the most recent Beachhouse BBQ... be sure not to miss the next one.

Rumors Heard at the new Spirits of the Earthmother

The Shu'halo step outside while visiting the Gallow's End... and they seem highly agitated.

Skybreaker giving rides to Alliance "friends". If you would like a ride, seek him out on the outskirts of Ratchet!

Despite previous protests about being part of the rumor section:

Longwalker missing from Peon Summit. Tawahne Grimtotem picks up the security slack! Notable, as well, was the Sage's absence from the Bluffs. Is there a reason the two were not present at the same boisterous debate?

Breaking News

Fight Club on Elder Rise! Why didn't anyone tell us? It appears there is more happening on Elder Rise than just a stare down contest between Grimtotems and the Cenarion Circle. And now The Earthen Ring has gotten involved. Strange Fogs and Moonfire that light the nights. If you have information on Fight Club, please inform Mok Ragehorn, Bluffwatcher. Let's hope the Council of Elders does not find out. If asked, remember, Rule #1, there is no fight club.

Fish swimming above the water? Is this something to do with our later story on a Gigantic Pearl that appears to be controlling Sea Giants and driving Murlocs crazy enough to attack Sen'jin Village. See Rites of Passage below for more information.

Interrupted camping trip leads to the Tribes and allies returning to Sun Rock Retreat, site of a recent attack by marauders. But is that what Longwalker Ragehorn is discussing with Chieftain Brightmane? Thanks to the bridge, the two appear to be seeing eye-to-eye at least.

Rites of Passage

*Coastline, Dustwallow Marsh
February 26, 2021*

Sen'jin Village sent word of murlocs swarming the fishing grounds. New Initiates join with tested Tribesmen to find out why. Scouting ahead, Tawahne Grimtotem led the Tribes to the lands of Dustwallow Marsh. A heavy fog settled on the land making it harder for the Shaman or any other to determine numbers of Murlocs or additional problems along the coastline.

Finally, the Redwoods made for the shore, dropping down a small hill. The Murlocs mounted a defense, but the numbers of Redwood were too much. As they moved from one small island to the next, the Redwoods finally found some strange seaweed and a large pearl sitting atop a stone altar: large being about 4 feet in diameter.

Setting the seaweed on the altar called for several Sea Giant's which the Tribes dispatched. After much debate, the order was given to transport the large pearl to the Earthen Ring for study in the Valley of Spirits.

Call of the Earthen Ring

*Spirit Rise, Thunder Bluff
February 27, 2021*

Okwaho Grimtotem welcomed Elders and initiates with warmth and an old blessing, to a meeting of the Earthen Ring at the Shaman Enclosure on Spirit Rise.

On the menu:

- Training of Shaman's and welcoming those who wish to become Shamans.*
- The re-training of Branharak Skybreaker-Do you feel an affinity for air? Please contact Okwaho about an opening on the training staff*
- Kalimag - The language of the Elements*
- Do not try this at home. Currently, an ancient Earth Elemental is living in symbiosis within the Sages's physical body. While you may sometimes share briefly with an elemental to enhance some advanced spells, they should not stay and reside with you. If anyone has an idea on how to remove this safely, please see Council Skybreaker*

Additional trainings and meetings are being scheduled. If there is a topic you would like covered, please contact either Sage Okwaho Grimtotem or Council Branharak Skybreaker.

Camping in Ashenvale

Splintertree Post to Outside Astranaar, Ashenvale
February 28, 2021

Nathera Younghoof and Branharak Skybreaker led the Tribes on a camping trip. Choosing to hike through Ashenvale, they made for an abandoned Furbolg camp along the lake surrounding the Kaldorei town, Astranaar. Swimming, chatting besides fires, and shenanigans seemed to life a lot of spirits.

To start the trek, Nathera gave everyone some safety tips and enforced that everyone was to have a camping buddy and made everyone pair up.

Sage Grimtotem paired up with Roh'vok and once at the camping area, the Sage assisted Roh'vok in lifting up Council Skybreaker and tossing him in the lake. Later, the Sage may have thrown in a few others, including Council Zel'wah.

The Alliance apparently did not enjoy the sound of splashing and attacked the campers leading to some bloodshed before the Tribes headed off to Stonetalon.

Overall, a fun time was had by all, which included Ale from the hosts and Redwood Roadhouse, and a fish fry done right by Tribesman Peshko Lakerunner. Expect more Camping Adventures soon.

Important Delivery

*Ghost Walker Post, Desolace
February 23, 2021*

Gabriel and Lyle Ross took the time to track down their friend, Branharak Skybreaker at Ghost Walker Post to deliver some medicine for an ailing Shu'halo, Taharkah Thundersong. She had taken ill at the recent Beachhouse BBQ and Council Skybreaker turned to his friends for advice, since it potentially had something to do with her recent mercenary work against the Scourge.

After the two left, the Sage and Council spent the night speaking of recent events...

A Night Relaxing in Brill... or Was it?

*Gallows End Tavern, Brill
February 17, 2021*

The Sage arrived in Brill to find Tribesmen and allies relaxing in the Gallows' End Tavern. Discussions ranged from the dangers of a mechanical yeti, which did chase Skybreaker to the cellar, and the differences between various elf cultures. After a brief meeting between the Shu'halo of Redwood outside, Okwaho Grimtotem retired to a room, with faithful friend, Branharak Skybreaker staying up to watch over the troubled youth.

The rest stayed up late into the night, and appeared to enjoy the time away from the frontlines.

Redwood Tribes News

A Grim View

I am Okwaho Grimtotem adviser to the Redwood Tribes, Seer of the Earthen Ring, and speaker to the editor that writes these words.

I wish that things were as quiet as they seem.

Instead, you read it above, there is an Earth Elemental dwelling inside of me. While we look for a way to remove it, fear not, we seem to be communicating better now... maybe I will learn something.

Additionally, be careful around a new Grimtotem, not Saura, she is a new Tribesman now, but Jarn Grimtotem. Should you be approached by him, seek out Guardian Tawahne Grimtotem and give her the details of your meeting. Agree to nothing.

If you have information concerning the attack on Sun Rock Retreat, please send word to myself or to Longwalker Ragehorn. Thank you!
