Hallow's End Masquerade

Spooky Mansion Hosts Masquerade

10.25.19 by:
"Who was that masked Shu'halo"

Thelesia Listres of The Desolate Conclave brought Horde and Alliance together for fun conversation, great costumes and a dinner and drink menu to die for... well, not dying was acceptable, as well.

The party lasted well into the evening and there were still surprises a week later as to who was who under all those fancy costumes and masks.

Tall Tales: The Forming of your Story

Credit to Flarefang for Bringing us Together for a very special Tall Tales & Epic Fables!

Nov 7 2019

A calm and cool evening greeted Alliance and Horde as many gathered in the Legerdemain Lounge of Dalaran, high atop the Broken Isles. While a few of the participants were familiar with another across the battlefield, others had been contestants on the Kick Fish field, and a few had already spent a couple of nights in Suramar at the wonderful Thelesia Listres' domicile, telling stories to the few Alliance and Horde that still felt the bonds of friendship despite the faction barriers.

But tonight was different!

While there are still barriers, there is a current of uneasy peace, and it seemed time to learn more about each other, Horde and Alliance, Orc, Shu'halo, Dwarf, Kaldorei and more. The honorable Rag'tagar Flarefang sent word and we drew together to lay, what can only be described as, a lasting foundation for continued peace and understanding!

Chief's Corner

Tales, Duels, Motorcycles, and an Old God!!!

Looks like we have a lot going on, and a lot coming up. So, what do we do next? Strangely, enough, I think the cartels have the right of it. Correction, mostly, have the right of it. While the Shu'halo do not endorse the greed that comes from the concept of a coin purse, the fact is, most of the Goblins do not care about the faction war that Azeroth continues to engage in.

This continued cycle of war and peace, and if I was a smart Shu'halo I would write a much longer scroll titled War and Peace and perhaps someday be famous, has taken its toll. It must come to an end, denizens of Azeroth.

Kaldorei did this, Orcs did that. Does it matter in the here and now. Sometimes I regret the long memories of the Shu'halo, but then I remember the longer history, the history where we defeated the Legion, time and again, as far back as we both can remember.

Well, I wish us luck, and I hope we remember what we have lost in the wartime and seek to gain it back during this troubled truce!

Rumors from The Lazy Turnip

Wildhammers go WILD!

Word has gone out, Wildhammer Dwarves appear to be chanting slogans as they head to Iron Forge, marching as one and rolling great casks of ale between them. They appear to be highly upset that they have not had their Aerie Peak Ale showcased by the Brew of the Month team! Good luck, as the Wildhammer seem crazed and defiant... and I can't wait to try the APA, especially if they have a keg of the Deep Mountain Dark.

The Season of Plenty

Despite prophecies of doom and gloom, Stormwind looks towards the future, revitalizing the agrarian lands of Westfall and Lakeshire. Stormwind's young King promises a bountiful harvest and full tables for the holidays on the horizon. Reports from Thunder Bluff report that the Shu'halo are looking forward to the feast, as well, and hunting parties are filling the storehouses in preparation.

While the Tribe strives for peace in a war-torn world, they are willing to stomp out all the campfires across Azeroth, because they are not on the menu tonight! So, until the alliance start fishing and stop hunting Shu'halo, this is the Tribe that will stop you. They enjoy boating, especially gliding out to sea in those nice balloons sitting in the Boralus harbor, mountain climbing from Dun Morogh to the peaks of Kul-Tiras, and they always enjoy a good fight! The Tribe enjoys BBQ, as well, and will bring plenty of Firewater to share with friends... Do you want to be friends? Or enemies? The choice is yours!

10.24.2019 Meeting Turns Into Defense of Orgrimmar

Redwood Tribes gathered in Orgrimmar for a short meeting to discuss affairs and found themselves part of the defense to an attack upon the Horde's Capital. Gathering in Thrall's chambers, once enough defenders had gathered, it was time to take the fight to the Valley of Spirits.

While Alliance pushed deep into Orgrimmar, the defenders counterattacked and turned them back before any threat to the Horde's Warchief.

Later there would be feasting for the trolls and Forsaken, at least.

A quick note to the Menethil Accord:

You are on the wrong boat. You are allowed to use the ones that float in the water only.

The hijacking of a Horde Zeppelin, and heinous murder of a Shu'halo only show that you continue to believe the lies that you rule all of Azeroth.

The Earth Mother will have her revenge!

Redistribution Leads Attack on Ironforge

Redistribution put the word out and led a host of tribes and warbands into the lands of the Dwarves and Gnomes.

Plenty of Ale was found, and that seemed to satisfy several Trolls and Shu'halo, however the rest of the forces went about liberating the coins of the Alliance coffers in an effort to redistribute the wealth from the imperial monarchy of the Bronzebeards and the rest of the Dwarven Hierarchy.

Kill Alliance Dead Day!

Nov. 1st 2019 - Day of the Dead Celebration

What started as Redwood Ranks, our formation practice in Crossroads, soon became a raid on Alliance forces in Dustwallow Marsh.

While normally, there is no other reason needed than the fact that the Kul Tirans are on Horde land, this day was in fact Día de Muertos. A day to honor the dead and celebrate the lives they had lived.

The Horde have lost many recently, and it was time for the Alliance to pay! Thank you to all who joined in Alliance and Horde!

11.04.19 Attack Upon Undercity by the Nefarious Alliance - Plans Leaked

Once again, notorious "Gonebald" maps found their way into the Hands of Horde Intelligence, this time showing an imminent attack upon the fortress of Undercity.

Valiant Horde Defenders, Signal Fire and more, came together to defend the Halls and Chambers of the Dark Lady... Yet she fell as did her Lieutenants in a battle that saw 300 Alliance Invaders take on between 150-200 staunch Horde Defenders. /salute to both sides

Things One Should Know

Gossip at The Broken Tusk

Something Stirs in Silithus

Reports from the Earthen Ring call for an investigation into the masked and robed figures amassing in Silithus. While the Cenarion Circle already has a base of operations in that land, the Earthen Ring calls for more support... and so far that call goes unheeded, as the young Earthen Ring has yet to make a mark like the esteemed Druidic Organization.

Thrall excited by news of a Parade and Feast

Word out of Orgrimmar is that plans have begun to celebrate the Autumn Harvest with a parade ending in a feast in the heart of Thrall's Chambers.

Shu'halo have begun hunting in earnest, not only to store food for the Winter, but to feed all who attend. The Organizers are calling for attacks on Human lands for grains, Dwarven lands for Ale, Kaldorei Fruits and wood for burning... No one has figured out what the gnomes produce. Just ignore the gnomes for now.

Redwood Tribes News

Skyseer's View

I am Okwaho Skyseer, adviser to the Redwood Tribes, Seer of the Earthen Ring, and speaker to the editor that writes these words.

The friendships and bonds of brotherhood are quickly forming as the Horde comes together in War and in Gathering. It is fascinating to watch the young grow, the old learn anew, and the various races of the Horde realize that we have more in common than we have differences.

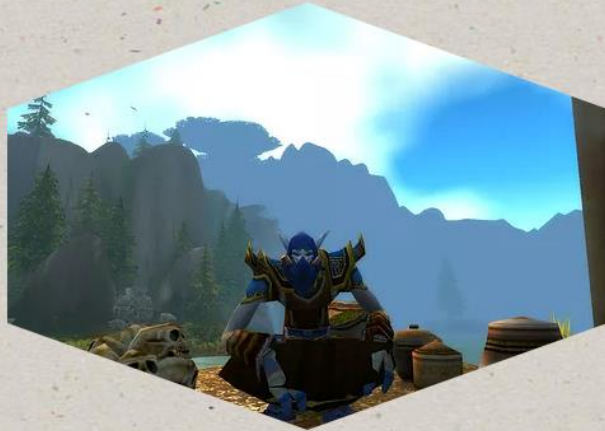

I have watched Shu'halo learning of the Forsaken, just at the Trolls seek to enlighten their Orc and Shu'halo friends.

This young Horde has a ways to go, each of us used to fighting and surviving on our own, and now finally growing together.

May these bonds never be broken!
